

Annia

Tom Mody

She fell to me at dawn as the satins laced the floor
She fell to me as the winds of change caressed my bedroom door
She fell to me in the cold as I lit the morning flame
She fell to me in silence so I still didn't know her name

She fell to me completely as the dogs roamed in new light
She fell to me as my enemy surrendering the fight
She fell to me on knees that had never scratched the grain
She fell to me with penance and blame

[chorus]

Annia (the priceless one)
Annia (princess of thieves)
Annia (wandering the night)
Annia (queen estranged)
Across the sea of guilt to my isle of no return
(soul of redemption)
Annia (the priceless one)
Daughter of the night now woman of the light

She fell to me and promised our night wouldn't be in vein.
She fell to me the martyr poisoned in refrain
She fell to me in her last breath whispering her name

[chorus repeat]

© Mody Company Creative (ASCAP)
tom@modycompany.com | ModyMusic.com
607-336-6233