

Heroes Die

Tom Mody

---

[intro]

You only can live if you never say die
The bigger the man comes the bigger the lie

You're only as tall as the mountains you've climbed
Make it to the top yet still left behind
Always chasing something...bigger, better, faster
You're only as brave as the maidens you've saved
Never satisfied with 15 minutes of fame
Try to ask yourself, what you're really after

[chorus]

You're only blinded by the lie 'cause heroes they do die
So take a look inside the lie 'cause heroes they do die
There comes a time for every man to take his mighty stand
You can't be a super man 'cause in the end heroes die

You'll never find peace when your mind is at war
Drawing battle lines while you're upping the score
No one ever sold you that peace of mind comes free
You never sell yourself what your heart won't buy
Need to prove you wrong need to kiss the sky
You only kiss the mirror, time to see things clear

[chorus repeat]

You're only as strong as the threads in your cape
Wearing them thin in the choices you make
Still you keep it sewn on... try to hold on

[chorus repeat]

[outro]

What if you never climbed that mountain
What if you never saved that day
What if that man who bares his cross is a hero in his way

© Mody Company Creative (ASCAP)
tom@modycompany.com ] ModyMusic.com
607-336-6233